

CCPRA RODEO RULES AND REGULATIONS

◆ Any time that the queen and runners-up are wearing any CCPRA emblems, such as a crown, sash, or belt buckle, they are considered representatives of the CCPRA Rodeo. They shall not consume alcohol or illegal non-prescription drugs, nor shall they use foul language at any time during their reign. Additionally, should the CCPRA Pageant Committee be advised of any conduct unbecoming, a representative of the CCPRA Rodeo at any time during the reigning year, a loss of title and swards such as the saddle, crown, buckle, and sashes, or other disciplinary action may result. The title holder will receive a warning prior to any action.

◆ Contestants will provide their own transportation to and from the rodeos. Gas receipts must be turned into the Queen Coordinator monthly with the rodeo appearances made and notes if you hauled with someone or someone hauled with you or you competed in a rodeo event.

◆ Contestants may compete in rodeo events provided that such events do not conflict with pageant activities. Stalls, if they are available, are the sole responsibility of the individual to be made. Bedding, feeding and mucking out is required and shall be the sole responsibility of the individual contestant. Locks for stalls and equipment are advised.

◆ The queen is required to be present at the Grand Entry of the rodeos and Pageant award ceremony. The reigning Miss CCPRA must participate throughout the performances and be present at the pageant. The new Miss CCPRA will take on the duties of Miss CCPRA at the second performance of the finals. Also you must be present at the award ceremony after the finals.

◆ Miss CCPRA will make public appearances by signing autographs, greeting the spectators, helping out where ever needed. As well as push the calves/steers out of the arena.

◆ Contestants must provide their own wardrobe and agree to the guidelines. It is up to the individual how many outfit's she brings to the pageant/rodeo. Word of advice.....BE PREPARED FOR ANYTHING!!!!!!